This past weekend, 8 brave James Wing GMC took the trek out to Liberty University to take part in the Joint Drill Team Initiation (DTI). Beginning at 0400, these cadets stepped through a night of PT, Drill Competitions, GLPs, and a ton more in preparation to earn their cords. Big thanks to all the current Drill Team members who prepared these initiates along their way, and an even bigger congratulations to all of the new Drill Team members!!!

Cadet Broga's Advice

Don't worry about being perfect, but try to focus on adapting! In ROTC, things aren't always going to go your way. When it comes to LLAB, PSP boards, Field training, and even being a POC, you will face challenges and obstacles you couldn't have predicted. What makes a great cadet is someone who can work with their team, make solutions, and try again! Don't get deterred when you mess up - learn from that mistake or scenario, and use it to help you in the future. Even if your journey takes you far away from ROTC or the Air Force, those are lessons that will help you no matter where you go in life.

Poor POC Advice

Bring up things you saw on Reddit as much as possible when the det commander asks for questions; it shows you are an intelligent cadet who is going above and beyond
